Dear clients, customers and friends,

As the COVID-19 coronavirus outbreak continues to develop, Egan-Jones Ratings Company's top concern is for the health and safety of its employees and those of our clients. Given the challenging times, we hope you and your families remain safe.

We want to reassure you that Egan-Jones remains fully operational and ready to assist our clients as normal. The firm has successfully implemented its incident management procedures and your firm contacts are available as usual to help with your ratings and proxy needs.

Please let us know if there's anything we can do to help and again we hope you remain safe as we all navigate the situation.
